

Using community-based method, the Women's Rights Project in newly urbanized area of Long Bien District has helped prevent violence against women, advance women's position in political and social activities.

|   |   |   |  |
|---|---|---|--|
| (1)Prevent violence against women and girls | 8 trainings for 170 about gender-based violence            | (2)Encourage women's participation in decision making process | 4,000 visits to community info corners                                    |
|   | 4 communication events over 1,000 participants             |   | 50 district and women leaders trained on women's political representation |
|   | Legal/psychological counseling for 47 cases                |   | 2 evaluation teams trained on community scorecards                        |
|   | Provide 64 health insurances, 3 counseling sessions |   | Evaluated 2 public services   |
|   | 810 people served at counseling centers                    |   | 4 business trainings for 102 domestic violence victims                    |